

Condition

The print is firmly adhered to a brittle pressed card backing. Because the print support is very thin, attempting to separate the print from the backing could cause damage. The print has insect damage on the image surface. There is also slight surface grime on the print. The backing is acidic and discolored. It is very brittle with losses around the edges. There is one large loss on the left edge that extends to the area supporting the print.